Homestead Exemption Approved By Council

The reading of ordinances took a goodly portion of the city council's time Tuesday evening at a regular meeting and one of them exempts elderly taxpayers from a part of ad valorem taxes.

The new ordinance exempts taxpayers of age 65 or older up to $3,000 of assessed value of their homestead for taxes in 1976. It does not apply to 1975 taxes.

Other ordinances included the second reading of a street assessment ordinance for paving in the west section of the city. The first reading of an ordinance calling a public hearing on the assessment program was read with the hearing date set tentatively for February 17.

Names for a steering committee for a proposed civic center were submitted by councilmen and were approved. They included Mrs. J. L. Bush, Mayor Gene Blake, Frank Luecke, Mrs. Perry Holder, A. W. McCullin, Odell Biggs and Jim Camp. Others on the committee named by the Chamber of Commerce included Milton Wright, chairman; Narvie Caperton, Charles Kunz, Gene Lumpkin and Larry Morrow.

Holidays for city employees were approved, with two days holiday for Christmas and one for New Years. It was noted that there might be a snailpat problem because of the long holiday weekend.

A. W. McCullin, Community Development Agency director, reported at a called public hearing about plans for the second year of the city's community improvement program. He pointed out that the city will receive $136,000 for the year and listed planned expenditures. One item, that of $5,000 for a historical museum, was no longer eligible, McCullin said, so the funds were tacked on to streets and drainage.

McCullin showed figures for contributions to the proposed park playground and the city's part in the program. Council voted to authorize McCullin to proceed on the second year program.

McCullin also reported on removal of dilapidated housing, saying that of some 72 houses in a survey scheduled for demolition, the Agency has a total of 30 removed to date. He said the two remaining buildings in the extended urban renewal program will be coming down soon as they have been vacated.

Information was released about a bicentennial program of slides to be presented January 9 in Methodist Fellowship Hall. The presentation is free and Larry Morrow was authorized to make arrangement for showing the film.

In other business, the mayor named Councilman Ernest Moore and Fire Chief Felix Matula to study bids for firemen's coats and boots, for which five bids were submitted.

ICA Seeks Extension Of Cattle Quarantine

In continuing the fight against federal restraints, rules and regulations imposed by the USDA brucellosis programs, Independent Cattlemen's Association President T. A. Cunningham, Vice-President P. A. Albrecht, Brucellosis Committee Chairman Dr. C. E. Payne, State Rep. Tim Von Dohlen and Cash Cunningham met with officials in Washington recently.

The meeting was to let the ICA recommend what steps should be taken to eliminate the problems that exist in the present brucellosis program adopted by the USDA.

The ICA representatives requested an extension of time in order to develop an effective brucellosis program for Texas, but USDA officials refused the requested extension although other states have been granted additional time.

"Texas is the first and only that state that has refused to accept more rules and regulations imposed by the program which is ineffective, inefficient, and economically hazardous to the Texas cattlemen," Cunningham said. The ICA hosted a luncheon for the Texas congressional delegation at which time the congressmen were informed of the existing problems and the refusal of additional time by USDA. The congressman assured ICA that they would cooperate and do everything in their power to assist the cattlemen.

Cong. Jake Pickle, Abraham Kazen, George Mahon, and Bob Poage will spearhead efforts towards adoption of ICA proposals, and Senators Lloyd Bentsen and John Tower also assured ICA of their complete assistance.

Unemployment Rate For Milam Below Average

The unemployment rate in Milam County continues to be below the average for the state and also below the national average, according to figures released by the Texas Employment Commission.

The Milam County unemployment rate for November was 4.4 percent, below the statewide rate during October which was 6.1 percent.

Only Hamilton County was lower with a 3.6 percent of the four counties for which data was listed. Bell County had 5.4 percent and Coryell County 5.6 percent.

The Temple Texas Employment Commission made 318 non-agricultural placements during November, compared to 281 a year ago. Job openings also picked up slightly which is a good sign.

The supply of entry level workers remains high, the Commission reported. Most are willing to be trained for skills. Some shortages, such as registered nurses, continue to exist.

Alcoa Names New Engineer, PR Aide

A chief industrial engineer and public relations assistant have been named at Aluminum Company of America's Rockdale Works.

Rodney G. Stone, a staff industrial engineer in Alcoa's Pittsburgh, Pa., corporate office, will transfer to the Central Texas facility about January 1 to become chief industrial engineer at the company's biggest smelter.

At the same time, A. J. (Gus) Fernandez, staff assistant in Alcoa's Pittsburgh, Pa., public relations department, will move to Rockdale Works as public relations assistant and editor of the plant publication, The Ranger.

Stone, a native of Dale, Ind., joined Alcoa at its Warrick, Ind. Operations near Evansville in 1963. He transferred to Cleveland Works in 1966 and Davenport Works in 1969. Stone moved to Alcoa's Massena, N. Y. Operations in 1972 and was promoted to industrial engineering supervisor. He transferred to the Pittsburgh office in 1974.

Fernandez, a native of Seattle, Wash., earned a bachelor's degree in public relations from the University of Washington in 1972 and a master's degree in public relations from Boston University earlier this year. He joined Alcoa in Pittsburgh in October and has been assigned to the marketing communications section.

He has held various public relations and communications jobs with Exxon Corporation in New York, Wyerhaeuser Company in Longview, Washington, and the U. S. Department of Commerce in Boston.

A COLD POTATO

It would seem that public employees sometimes forget for whom they work or to whom they are responsible.

Your Herald simply rejects any criticism from public officials whose services are questioned in a public commissioners meeting by grand jurors.

Your Herald has contributed to the enlightenment of Hearne and Robertson-Milam County citizens in the past year on serious events involving Hearne's city government and finance.

Your Herald will continue to cover such events, particularly those concerning law enforcement and prosecution in Milam County.

Before this is over, Milam County is going to find it pays its deputies and sheriff too little, its constables too little and thereby attracts few if any candidates for the elective office of sheriff and too few men qualified to carry out and hold modern police roles in communities and precincts of Milam County.

Milam County pays its county attorney too little and gets a parttime job. So any requests, as we understand it, for better pay, better people and qualified candidates for county offices of various kinds, including sheriff and county attorney, will require more tax base.

The County Judge the other day told landowners this in answer to requests for more police protection in Milam County. Since there has been no basic change in county taxes for perhaps 40 years, this may be justification enough for public support even among landowners for more taxes for more rural police and sheriff's department protection.

This is a public problem about public safety which requires public money. It will be an easy matter to get all the expertise necessary from established, fully manned, modern Texas sheriff's departments, the Department of Public Safety in Austin, the Texas Rangers or federal authorities.

These are cold facts. This is a cold potato which is rightfully being brought to public attention.

Shooting Nets Assault Charges, Two Make Bond

Two Rockdale residents are out on $5,000 bond after being charged in Justice of the Peace Jess Brock's court with aggravated assault.

The charge grew out of a shooting incident in Thorndale about 11 p.m. Friday. Doyle Buchanan of the Thorndale area was taken to Scott and White Hospital in Temple suffering from three gunshot wounds. He was listed in serious condition after surgery Sunday night.

Arrested and charged in connection with the shooting were Mona and Roy Graubaug of Rockdale.

Charges are pending in a stabbing incident under the San Gabriel bridge on Friday afternoon when Ruby Garcia of Sealy suffered a stab wound in the neck. One man was arrested in connection with the incident and charges are awaiting the county attorney's action.

New Number Listed For Directory Help

Telephone customers wanting Directory Assistance should dial 1 plus 411 instead of Operator, Southwestern Bell Manager Dennis Richter said today.

"Though the number has changed there still will be no charge for Directory Assistance here," Richter said.

He said the Directory Assistance number was being changed to 1 plus 411 as part of an expense-saving move by Southwestern Bell. Directory Assistance calls that have been handled by operators in Temple will now be handled by operators in Fort Worth.

"This allows us to consolidate our records and operator force," he said. "It helps us control our expenses so we can keep our local rates as low as possible. Even though there is no direct charge for Directory Assistance here, the cost of maintaining this service is reflected in our local telephone rates. If we can save money by consolidating, it eases the burden of expenses on the local telephone customer."

Richter emphasized that economy is the reason for the change in operations, and the greatest economy could be achieved if customers would look numbers up in the directory.

"Directory Assistance is a definite expense, one that is borne by all telephone customers in the monthly rates they pay," Richter said. "Studies show that around 80 percent of all calls to Directory Assistance concern numbers that are in the directory."

Pate Museum Featuring Soviet Space Exhibits

The Pate Museum of Transportation on U. S. Highway 377 between Fort Worth and Cresson is the first American museum to feature an official Soviet Space exhibit showing in detail historic space technology that has made space history during the last five years. The exhibit will be on display free to the public from 9 to 5 daily except Mondays.

The exhibit features two large detailed scale mock-up components of the Soviet Space Program--the Automatic Interplanetary Station, MARS-3, and the Automatic Lab LUNOKHOD-2. Also on display is an assortment of exotic Space Food developed for Cosmonauts in the Soviet Space Program, and an interesting selection of American newspapers with front page headlines and articles about the Soviet Space Program.

MARS PROBE

The third Mars-bound probe, MARS-3 was launched on May 28, 1971--and it accomplished the first solo landing on the planet Mars. It released a scientific space robot before it went into Mars' orbit on December 2, 1971. The descent module landed on the planet Mars between the regions Electris and Phaethontis.

The Automatic Lab LUNOKHOD-2 is self-propelled lunar vehicle which carried out scientific investigations on the moon in the area of the crater Lemonnier. It was carried to the moon by the unmanned moon probe, LUNA-21, which lifted from earth on Jan. 8, 1973, and first went into lunar orbit then made a soft landing on the moon on Jan. 16.

When LUNA-21 landed, LUNOKHOD-2 was sitting on top of the luna, above its engines and its tanks, and looked like a large round bathtub with wheels. After landing, a ramp automatically extended from the Luna and the strange-looking contraption, acting on command by remote control from earth, rolled down the ramp to the moon's surface. Constructed largely of magnesium alloy and weighing approximately 2000 pounds it was about the size of a small automobile with four wire-spoked wheels on each side.

Each of the Lunokhod's eight wheels had its own motor. Power came from batteries charged by the sun's rays. If one of the wheels became stuck in a rut, it would automatically lose power while the other wheels pulled it free. Another automatic system stopped the vehicle if it started on a path too steep to be negotiated safely.

EARTH CREW

Most of the time, however, an earthbound crew that consisted of a commander, driver, engineer, navigator, and radio operator controlled the Lunokhod's movements. They did this with the help of television pictures, transmitted by the craft as it moved along. The pictures covered a limited area and the controllers had to allow for the time it took signals to travel from the Moon to the Earth and back again.

Nevertheless, the "driver" was able to keep the Lunokhod bumping over the lunar surface, 248,547 miles away. All the team members had trained extensively for the Luna missions beforehand using a model of the Lunokhod, which they directed over 60 miles of moon-like terrain on earth.

On the moon Lunokhod-2 operated for 5 months and covered a distance of 37 kilometers. During that time it transmitted to the earth 86 panoramic views and over 80,000 television photos of the lunar surface.

In addition to its television cameras, Lunokhod-2 carried radios, an X-Ray telescope to analyze the lunar soil.

The first time measurements of the luminosity of the lunar sky were made from the surface of the moon. At the same time experiments in laser direction finding of the moon rover were carried out too.

The Lunokhod-2 carried an array of mirrors in an angular reflector built by French scientists to catch and reflect laser light signals beamed from the earth. By carefully checking the time it takes laser beams to travel, scientists can accurately measure distances. In the course of several months the Soviet and French scientists conducted joint experiment with the angular reflector in laser ranging. The distance from the source of laser radiation to the reflector was measured with an error of no more than 40 centimeters.

In deck construction, cleats and straps give stronger beam and post connections than does toe-nailing.

Cedar Takes Clear Finish

Finishing western red cedar on interior walls should be kept to a minimum, so its natural beauty remains undiminished. Cedar doesn't need a preservative finish at all; witness its use in saunas where any surface coating reduces their efficacy.

On smooth-surfaced wood, a penetrating sealer or emulsified wax will go far to prevent smudges. An oiled finish look can be obtained with a plastic resin oil sealer.

Varnish and lacquer are traditional wear-resistant clear finishes, but either might intensify the wood tones and add a reflecting surface. Dull finish versions are available, however. Commercially, lacquer is popular because it sprays on smoothly and rapidly, and provides a hard surface. On a saw-textured surface, a clear seal primer will make cleaning easier.

Area Cow-Calf Meeting

By Bill McCutchen

A big area cow-calf meeting is planned for Friday, Jan. 23, 1976 at Oscar Bodie's Livestock Commission Company at Milano. This will be one of the major beef programs of the year and local cattlemen should plan to take advantage of this opportunity.

Some of the top names in the beef industry will be represented including Frank Litterst, Dr. O. D. Butler, Jim Theek, Dr. Bill Pope, and Milam County's own Dr. Robert Tittsworth and Leon Noack.

This will be a hard hitting program geared to help cattlemen ride out the storm until help arrives.

Cull Open Cows Now

Going into the winter season, cow-calf producers should give serious consideration to pregnancy testing their cow herd and then culling open cows as soon as possible. Once the cow herd is reduced, a number of alternatives become possible:

1. More land becomes available for the remaining cow herd, thus permitting conservation of pastures and rangelands.

2. Cashoutflow is reduced during the winter period since less outside feed resources will be needed.

3. Other types of production could be integrated into the cow-calf operations. With winter pastures, ownership of steer calves might be retained after they go to custom feedlots. Calves also might be retained as yearlings although such a program delays income and requires financial planning.

4. All steers could be sold and the heifers retained. After being bred and pregnancy tested in the spring, only the early breeders could be kept while the remaining heifers could be sold as breeding females or fed as finished beef.

Although market prices are still low, the time is really opportune to sell of open cows. This is due to the fact that competitive meat supplies are low and the demand for beef remains strong. This situation may change next year as pork supplies will likely increase.

Cattlemen must take the first step in turning around the current economic crisis that envelops each of them. That step is to reduce cow numbers. The national cow herd must be brought back in balance with demand.

Suit Filed To Halt USDA Move

An injunction to prevent the USDA from imposing its threat to embargo of Texas breeding cattle was brought into federal district court in Austin by the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association.

The suit, naming as defendants Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz, APHIS Administrator F. J. Mulhern, and Deputy Administrator J. M. Hejl, and Paul Becton, in charge of Brucellosis for APHIS, seeks to obtain an injunction restraining the order to cut off federal brucellosis funds as well as to implement the embargo, according to TSCRA President Hilmar G. Moore.

DEVELOPS PROCESS, J. F. Jones, associate director of agricultural research for Cotton Incorporated, holds the plaque naming him as "eminent conceptor" of a new dilute sulfuric acid delinting process for cotton planting seed.

New Delinting Process Wins Engineering Honor

RALEIGH Cotton Incorporated's new dilute sulfuric acid delinting process for cotton planting seed has won a 1975 honor award for engineering excellence from the American Consulting Engineers Council.

The "Eminent Conceptor" award was made to T.A.B. Engineers, Inc., of Northbrook, Ill., for work done in behalf of Cotton Incorporated in scaling up from laboratory size to plant size a new pollution-free process for delinting cottonseed.

The award was one of only ten granted this year in engineering projects around the world.

Named as "eminent conceptor" was J. K. ("Farmer") Jones, associated director of agricultural research for Cotton Incorporated, the company which represents U. S. cotton producers. Jones conceived and managed the research projects that led to the new system.

The new process was cited for three major advantages:

--It totally eliminates the hazardous water and land pollutant produced by the conventional wet - acid method of delinting cottonseed.

--It reduces by 98 per cent the consumption of sulfuric acid used in delinting the seed.

--It cuts production space requirements by 70 per cent.

In addition, the new method produces a saleable byproduct that can be used for cattle feed or processed into glucose -- and further processed into a commercial food - grade alcohol.

Cotton Incorporated engaged T.A.B. engineers to develop technology and install the equipment for the new system, following successful laboratory experiments.

The T.A.B. engineers had just 21 weeks to put the new system "on line" in order to meet the cotton crop deadline. They succeeded.

The site of the first installation was the Mississippi Seed Company in Tunica, Miss.

Following the first public demonstration last spring, the new system was acclaimed by environmental protection specialists.

Charles T. Branch, sanitary engineer with the Mississippi Air and Water Pollution Control Commission, called the new system a good example of how to make the recycling theory work to manage waste water.

"The new method eliminates the discharge of concentrated sulfuric effluent which is found in older delinting processes, and therefore contributes to cleaner water in the state," said Branch.

The basic problem facing Cotton Incorporated and T. A. B. Engineers was to remove the tough, fuzzy fiber - the linters -- from the cottonseed in order to produce clean seed for planting.

The old wet - acid method of delinting cottonseed dissolved the linters in a 93 per cent solution of sulfuric acid. The acid - linter waste was pumped into a settling pond, creating a serious pollution problem to the water table and land.

The T.A.B. engineers designed a system that soaks the harvested seed with a dilute sulfuric acid solution. Through a process of dehydration, the dilute acid solution is converted to a high-concentrate acid. The strong acid then embrittles the linters, which are subsequently cleanly scalped from the seed.

The prototype plant at the Mississippi Seed Company can handle about 200 pounds of cottonseed a minute.

Cut Seen In Nitrogen Production

Nitrogen fertilizer production in the United States will be reduced about 4 percent this winter, but Texas farmers should not be affected too much by the cutback.

That's the contention of Dr. Russell McDonald, an economist in marketing for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

He points out that the delivery of natural gas (the feedstock for ammonia used for nitrogen fertilizer) to ammonia plants will be curtailed as the winter season approaches. Current estimates are that the curtailment will total about 670,000 tons for the 12-month period ending March 1, 1976. Of course, severe winter conditions might further reduce the volume of natural gas going to ammonia plants.

"The expected curtailment of natural gas for ammonia production is almost double the curtailment during the year ending March 1, 1975," notes the Texas A&M University System specialist.

The 670,000 tons of natural gas that are expected to be curtailed means a reduction of 550,000 tons of ammonia for nitrogen fertilizer. Half of this reduction is scheduled for the period of January-March next year, a time when the need for fertilizer production increases sharply to meet demands for the spring planting season.

Screens and gates of western red cedar can add distinction to a house facade without costly rebuilding.

Up and Down Again... A Better Buy... Prospects Brighten.

Farm costs are up, farm prices are down. That's the summary of the latest agricultural price report from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Parity is now down to 73; a month ago it was 76, as was the case a year ago. Only two commodities--oats and mohair--are above parity.

Meanwhile, prices paid by farmers showed a six per cent increase compared to a year ago. Lower prices for livestock feed were noted, but higher prices were paid by farmers for clothing and motor vehicles.

Hog prices showed a big decrease, averaging $47.60 for November, which is $7.20 under a month ago. Parity for hogs is $48.80.

In other categories of livestock, beef cattle averaged $31.20, up $1.50 from a month ago but still more than 50 per cent below parity ratios. Calves averaged $26.60 compared with parity at $68.90. Sheep prices were only a dime below parity, averaging $15.90.

Most crop prices are under levels of a month ago. Wheat averaged $3.54 per bushel, which is 50 cents under a month ago and more than a dollar below parity. Grain sorghum averaged $4.04; that is 42 cents under a month ago and $1.16 below parity. Cotton price average in Texas, at 43 cents, is under a month ago and about half of the parity level.

Eggs showed an increase of 10 cents per dozen from a month ago; mohair was about 25 cents per pound above parity; oats were 19 cents a bushel above parity.

All this points up to one fact of agricultural life: while prices farmers receive decline, the cost of food to the consumer is continuing to increase.

STILL A GOOD BUY FOR CHRISTMAS this year is Texas farm produced food. One of the good buys you should consider now is citrus. The quality of grapefruit coming out of the Rio Grande Valley continues to be excellent. Another good suggestion is Texas pecans, now being harvested throughout the state.

MEANWHILE, WHEAT AND OAT FIELDS generally are making satisfactory progress, but a rain is needed to push them along; some areas report grain fields dying due to lack of moisture.

The only major crop yet to be harvested in the state this year is cotton. Harvesting of that commodity is more than 50 per cent complete.

PROSPECTS FOR A GOOD COTTON YEAR in 1976 are now shaping up, according to a number of economists and forecasters.

They point out the fact that demand for cotton is increasing while the supply is down.

The textile industry is reviving from its doldrums and it is anticipated that cotton will be a popular fabric in the coming fashion season.

Costs of producing cotton for some inputs are expected to be about steady in 1976 compared to this year.

Putting it all together, the forecasters say cotton has a bright prospect for 1976. A year ago, cotton was being relegated to extinction by some of its critics. But cotton has always managed to survive each crisis it has encountered in years past.

Cotton is proving again to be popular as well as durable. It should continue to be a major factor in Texas agriculture for years to come.

Homeless Pets Paying For Owners Neglect

More than 13 million dogs and cats were destroyed last year at animal shelters in the United States because nobody wanted them.

And you can add another five million to that figure to take into account those strays that are never caught and meet their death by starvation, disease, or under the wheels of a vehicle.

What's the solution to this tragedy?

"Pet owners are chiefly to blame," contends Dr. James Armstrong, veterinarian with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "They let their pets stray so they often become lost. But the worst part is that pet owners take no precaution against accidental breeding of their animals."

To avoid accidental breeding, owners should either keep their animals confined or should have them neutered. The Texas A&M University System veterinarian, Special attention should be given to spaying female pets.

"Spaying is a surgical operation performed by a veterinarian that takes away the female's ability to reproduce," points out Armstrong. "Unfortunately, the average pet owner is often unwilling to spend the time and money necessary to have this operation performed."

An alternative to the spaying operation may exist in a birth control pill that is now being developed.

"Of course, some pet owners don't want to spay their animals because they want to show their children the miracle of life," notes the veterinarian. "But there is another side of life that is tragic--life snuffed out in a tangled mess under the wheels of a car. Or starving animals wandering along roadsides frantically looking for something to eat. Or the 13 million dead animals hauled out of animal shelters each year.

"Pets need love and affection and they belong in a good home. Unless owners take the responsibility to keep their pets from straying and breeding accidentally, the grim statistics will continue to grow," emphasizes Armstrong.

USDA Urges Vaccination Of Heifers

With about 30 percent of all known brucellosis infected herds of the country located in Texas, the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) is strongly urging Texas cattlemen to vaccinate their heifer calves against brucellosis.

Officials of USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) recommend vaccinating beef and dairy heifers with Brucella abortus Strain 19 vaccine. Beef heifers should be vaccinated after two months of age but before six months of age. Bull calves should not be vaccinated because it may result in permanent sterility.

Strain 19 vaccine is a live bacterial product and should be administered by a veterinarian or by employees of state-federal animal health agencies. A tattoo applied in the right ear at time of vaccination identifies heifers as "officially vaccinated" and shows the approximate time of vaccination.

Texas Business Climate Named Best In Nation

AUSTIN — The Texas Manufacturers Association (TMA) announced today that the business climate in Texas has been named best in the nation in a 221-page study recently completed by the Fantus Company, a subsidiary of Dun & Bradstreet, Inc.

The study, completed on behalf of the Illinois Manufacturing Association, used a rating system based on such factors as taxes, labor laws, size and cost of government, welfare costs and trends, state indebtedness, unemployment and workers' compensation costs, and similar state and local government-related conditions.

Bill Gray, president of TMA, noted that the lack of corporate and personal income taxes coupled with favorable labor laws were keys to Texas' number one standing.

"We are fortunate in Texas to have a legislature that understands that a good business climate means more jobs and a higher standard of living for all," Gray said. He pointed out that the study shows that Texas not only ranks number one in business climate, but also leads the nation in the number of manufacturing jobs won according to a U. S. Department of Labor Manpower Report to the President.

The report noted that Texas gained 150,000 manufacturing jobs during the period studied (1967-1974) for a 22.6 percent increase. (The only other state to gain over 100,000 jobs during the same period was North Carolina with a gain of 122,000.)

Gray noted that TMA had been working since 1922 to build a better business climate in Texas and that the results of the Fantus study were especially gratifying. Key findings in the study indicate:

*Texas is one of four states in the nation without a corporate income tax and one of only six states without a personal income tax.

*Texas has the nation's lowest unemployment rate at 3.5 percent compared to the national average of 5.7 percent.

Holiday Breakfast Star

Bring Christmas spirit to your breakfast table with this scene stealing Holiday Star coffee cake.

Carved and twisted into a three-dimensional star, then sugar glazed, this morning bread is a luscious ornament that reflects the best of the season. Made with enriched flour, it carries a bonus of the B-vitamins, thiamine, niacin and riboflavin, and the mineral iron—all essential to good health. Coffee cake, especially one as pretty as this, says "love" the way only home baking can.

Holiday Breakfast Star

6 to 8 servings

- | | |
|----------------------------|---------------------|
| 2 cups enriched flour* | 1/2 cup shortening |
| 1 tablespoon baking powder | 1/2 to 3/4 cup milk |
| 1 teaspoon salt | Fig Filling |
| 3/4 teaspoon ground ginger | Orange Glaze |

Stir together dry ingredients. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Blend in enough milk to make a soft dough. Turn onto lightly floured surface and knead gently 30 seconds. Divide in half. Roll each half to 9-inch circle. Place one circle on ungreased baking sheet. Spread with Fig Filling, leaving a 1/2-inch margin around outside edge. Top with second circle. Press edges together to seal. Slash top circle of dough to form a star, cutting from center of circle to within 1 inch of edge. Lift each point and twist over once. Bake in preheated 450° oven 12 to 15 minutes, or until done. Brush immediately with Orange Glaze. Serve at once warm.

Fig Filling

- | | |
|----------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------|
| 1 package (8 oz.) dried figs, chopped (about 1 1/2 cups) | 2 tablespoons butter |
| 1/2 cup chopped pecans | 1 teaspoon grated orange rind, if desired |
| 1/4 cup orange juice | 1/2 teaspoon ground ginger |

In small saucepan combine ingredients; simmer 5 minutes, stirring frequently.

Orange Glaze

- | | |
|-------------------------------|------------------------------|
| 2 to 3 teaspoons orange juice | 1/2 cup confectioners' sugar |
|-------------------------------|------------------------------|

Stir juice into sugar a teaspoon at a time, mixing well. *Spoon flour into dry measuring cup; level. Do not scoop. NOTE: If self-rising flour is used, omit baking powder and salt.

Milam Co. Extension Ag.

"Of all the gifts I have each year, (Some sparkling, bright and glowing) I think the gifts I hold most dear. Are ones most green and growing!"

One sure cure for the wintertime blues is to brighten your surroundings with some beautiful plants. They are excellent for Christmas gifts and help to give fresh meaning to the Christmas message.

Numerous plants are available in supermarkets, variety stores, garden centers, florist, and specialty shops. Keep in mind when you are selecting plants, that several of the ones associated with Christmas are poisonous.

Diffenbachia, mistletoe, star of Bethlehem, and hyacinth bulbs are only a few of the more than 700 species of plants that are known to cause illness or death.

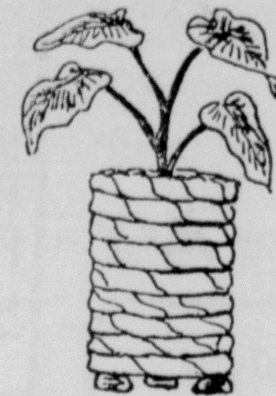

You probably have a plant or two that you might take a cutting from -- airplane or snake plants, or example. Or begin some after-dinner gardening by recycling parts of some fruits and vegetables. Pineapple tops and avocado seeds grow into attractive houseplants fairly quickly. Yams when started in water yield lovely trailing vines. Grapefruit and orange seeds eventually turn into small trees.

If plants are on your Christmas list this year, you will want to give some thought to what to plant them in. The possibilities are as great as your imagination. Look around the house -- are there any empty cans, mismatched glasses or old jars? Is the plant in a clay pot? It's one of the best for the health of the plant, but not always the most attractive accessory. If it is already potted, you'll want to give it some yuletide spirit.

Coffee cans, mixed nuts cans, and shortening cans are good sizes for most small houseplants. They can be spray painted in no time at all. Paint is toxic for plants so be sure not to get any inside. Add wooden drawer pulls or spools for feet and handles to the side.

Or wrap the can with medium thick rope for a natural look. A low widecan can become a hanging basket when macrame strips or leather thongs or shoelaces are attached. Punch holes in the bottom to allow excess moisture to drain into a saucer or into a second pot (called double potting).

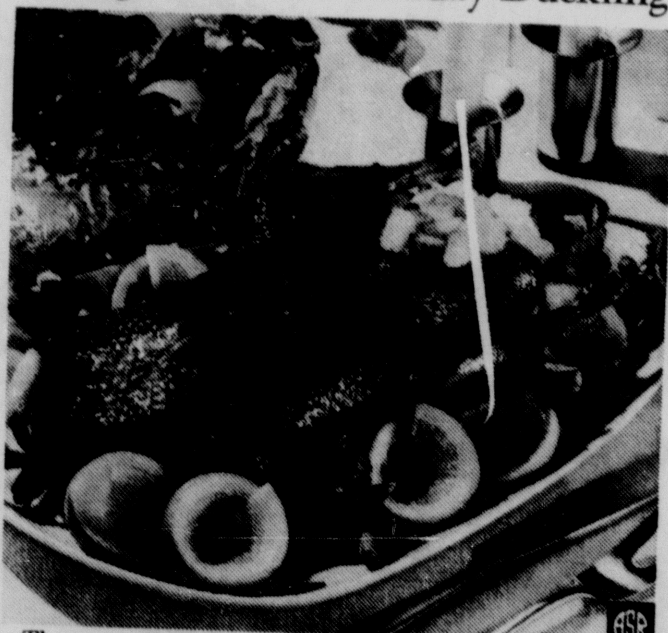

Glass jars, odd glasses and empty bottles can be attractive containers for vine plants. They can be coated with patching plaster to change their original look or they can be spray painted. A brandy snifter with a bright ribbon makes a delightful container for a small plant or terrarium. Clay pots can be spruced up with cut-outs from Christmas cards or decals and some decorative braid. Clay pots can also be painted but this does cut down on their porosity and the paint may flake off due to moisture.

Orange Glaze For Holiday Duckling

The natural flavor of Pure Orange Marmalade combined with the spicy goodness of Barbecue Sauce makes an elegant during the Holiday Season.

This simple "Holi-Duck" recipe will please your guests, and, if you want to save time, you can by-pass the stuffing. The Orange Marmalade-Barbecue Sauce glaze sufficiently provides all the orange flavor. Easy to prepare and elegant to serve, "Holi-Duck" makes your dinner a special occasion throughout the winter season.

Holi-Duck

- | | |
|-------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1 duckling (4 1/2 to 5 pounds), defrosted | 1 teaspoon grated orange rind |
| 1 teaspoon salt | 1 cup diced orange sections with juice |
| 1 1/2 cups chopped celery | 3/4 cup Kraft Pure Orange Marmalade |
| 1/4 cup chopped onion | 2 1/2 cups Kraft Barbecue Sauce |
| 2 tablespoons butter or margarine | 1 medium orange, sliced and slices cut to center on one side |
| 4 cups 1/2-inch bread cubes | |
| 2 tablespoons sugar | |

Wash and drain duckling; pat dry with paper toweling. Sprinkle neck and body cavities with salt using 1/2 teaspoon salt. Sauté celery and onion in butter or margarine until onion is soft. Add bread cubes, 2 tablespoons sugar, remaining 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind and orange sections; toss together. Fill neck and body cavities loosely with cavity with aluminum foil and tie legs together loosely. Place on rack in shallow roasting pan. Bake in slow oven (325 degrees F.) until meat on drumstick is fork tender, about 3 hours. Combine Pure Orange Marmalade with Barbecue Sauce. Brush glaze over duckling 2 or 3 times during last 30 minutes cooking time. Garnish duckling with curled orange slices and serve with glaze. Yield: 4 servings.

British Housewives Seek Refuge At Center

By Michael Hughes

LONDON
Reuter--More than 2,000 women, some weeping, some cut and bruised and all terrified of their husbands, have knocked at the door of a large house in west London to plead for refuge.

The women, usually accompanied by their children, tell terrifying stories of the treatment they have fled. Some have third degree burns where boiling water was poured on them. Others have had cigarettes stubbed out all over their bodies. Many arrive bearing the marks of their most recent beating.

The four-year-old refuge for battered wives is run by two energetic middle-aged women, Erin Pizzey, the founder of Chiswick Women's Aid, and her co-director, Anne Ashby.

The number of women and children living communally there varies between 30 and 70. No one is ever turned away.

After a therapeutic stay in the reassuringly close-knit community, the battered wife and her children will probably move to one of 20 community houses in southern England.

These houses, with four or five families in each, have been donated by local authorities or individuals. But Chiswick Women's Aid is still desperate for accommodations.

The problem eased recently when, in a meticulously planned operation, a group of women and children occupied a 100-room derelict hotel overlooking the River Thames at Richmond, west of London.

There are now 17 families "squating" in the crumbling elegance of the Palm Court Hotel. With help from Chiswick Women's Aid they are hard at work to make it habitable--not an easy task without substantial funds.

The residents survive on government social security payments. The group receives only 4,000 dollars a month from the state and the cost of renovating the hotel is estimated at 100,000 dollars.

Mrs. Ashby said: "We decided to squat here because it had been empty for six years and it was ideal for our purposes. Each family can have its own room. We would like to be able to develop it into a community center for the Richmond area."

Chiswick Women's Aid also has wider aims. Mrs. Pizzey said the law must be changed to ensure that in every case of extreme violence the husband is cut off from further contact with his wife and children.

"In the last three years 'wife battering' has become a common term," she said. "We now have a chance to make it an obsolete one--like 'racking,' 'thumb-screwing,' and 'breaking the wheel.'"

Travels To China Are Not Easily Arranged

President Ford, like other American travelers, found it's not easy to arrange a trip to Peking.

His visit had been agreed upon in 1974. Then it hit a snag in October over Chinese displeasure concerning the United States policy of detente with the Soviet Union. The problem was smoothed over in time for the Presidential trip to proceed as scheduled.

Less important visitors also find that patient negotiations must precede trips to the People's Republic of China. Yet hundreds of Americans now visit China every year.

Most are politicians, scientists, scholars, journalists, or businessmen, the National Geographic Society points out. But athletes, students, and tourists also have obtained visas to visit the country that for a generation was "off limits" to holders of United States passports.

Tourism Discouraged

China emphasizes industrial expansion, but tourism is one industry the Chinese are not pushing. Sightseeing is not regarded as sufficient reason to visit China, except occasionally for persons of Chinese descent seeking a glimpse of some ancestral town or village.

Americans who visit China generally go in groups, as members of scientific or scholastic societies, or as businessmen attending the Canton Trade Fair.

But some New Yorkers who lacked such credentials simply wrote to Peking, relates Ruth Lor Malloy. In effect, they said: "So far, only important people have been allowed to visit China. How about a group of us ordinary people?" Surprisingly, it worked.

Mrs. Malloy, of Chinese descent, lives in Maryland with her American husband. From two trips to the land of her forebears she has distilled her "Travel Guide to the People's Republic of China," which will be showing up more often in the flight bags of Chinabound travelers.

No Restaurant Syndrome

From Presidential parties to student groups, visitors can enjoy the dishes of their host country without fearing "Chinese restaurant syndrome," the book reports.

Mrs. Malloy, whose family has a Chinese restaurant in Canada, explains the sinus reaction is caused by the large amount of monosodium glutamate used by Oriental chefs in America. Cooks in China employ the seasoning sparingly.

She warns against ginseng flavored toothpaste, but says a Chinese breakfast can be a good way to start the day. It may include "oil sticks," which are foot-long doughnuts.

Foreign cuisine is available, but Mrs. Malloy quotes a Western newsman whose advice regarding the lemon pie served in a Shanghai hotel is, "Don't let it fall on your toe."

Visitors, from dignitaries to tourists, are placed in the care of a "Responsible Person" who stays at their side and helps fulfill their requests -- or denies them.

One foreigner was refused permission to go swimming because his guide would have been responsible if the visitor had drowned.

A Southern superstition warns that you should never put a letter in your girl friend's left hand, or your friendship will come to an end...on a bad note!

Baptists Plan Media Campaign

DALLAS — Texas Baptists Executive Board enthusiastically adopted a recommendation here for devising a plan involving extensive use of mass media in an all-out campaign of moral and spiritual renewal. The action came after the board's executive director, Dr. James H. Landes of Dallas, said, "We are caught today in the midst of world revolution. There's a real effort on the part of some to abolish the Christian faith."

The 192-member board instructed its staff to immediately begin developing plans for presentation at the next board meeting March 9.

Landes said the media will have to be the focal point for the campaign scheduled for 1977 and involving the Convention's 4,400 churches and 24 convention-sponsored institutions.

In his challenge to the board, Landes said "We live in a day when we need to stand up tall and speak happening around us."

"We need the solid purpose that will unite us in a cause of love, that will make us sacrifice if necessary and be flexible in planning."

During the meeting of the Executive Board, the Rev. Grayson Glass, pastor of the Galveston's First Baptist Church, was elected chairman and the Rev. Ernest Duncan, pastor of Fairview Baptist Church of Grand Prairie, was named vice-chairman.

Glass had been acting chairman since the resignation of chairman Dr. Lloyd Elder, who accepted a position as assistant to the executive secretary.

The Executive Board oversees operations of the 2.2 million member denomination between annual convention sessions. The denomination operates 23 institutions, including an academy, eight colleges and universities, eight hospitals, five homes for the aging and four child care facilities.

The board also lauded Dr. Cecil A. Ray, who has been a member of the Executive Board staff 14 years, the last eight of them as Director of the Stewardship Division.

When the front page makes you happy

He was a retired editor and a wise one. But he was a realist — as a newspaperman must be. One of his sayings became legendary in that busy pressroom:

When the front page makes you happy — it's been a great day!

I'm one who has noticed that the great days seem farther apart. Nor can I blame on my ulcer the headlines that don't make anyone happy. Someone else said: men make the news; reporters only write it.

It's time to give thought to the roots of happiness. After all, what happens every day is simply the fruit of a million vines. Down at the roots is where the fateful choices are made which inevitably bring forth their fruit.

This is a mighty fine newspaper whose service to the community is to tell us what news men have made today. We also have some mighty fine churches. Their service to the community is to mold the faith and character of the men who will make the news tomorrow.

Our churches are working at the roots of happiness!

In District Opener, Yoemen Blast Hornets, 72-36

Four workouts, five games and five victories. In the fifth game of the season and the first game in district action the Yoemen blasted the Caldwell Hornets, 72-36 at Yoe High Gym Tuesday night.

The Yoemen are 5-0 for the season, while the Hornets dropped to a 4-8 win-loss record for the year. After a slow start the first quarter the Yoemen owned the game lock, stock and basket. In the first stanza the Yoemen faced a slow-down game-plan by the Hornets but the fast breaking Yoemen put it out of reach in the second quarter.

At the end of the first quarter the score was 9-8 in favor of the Hornets but it didn't last long before Ronnie Bennett dumped in 2 and the Yoemen gained a lead they never lost again.

Bennett and Jafus White were leading scorers both with 16 followed by Michael White with 14.

With 3:32 left in the first half the Yoemen started a display of their ball-handling and ball-control skills. Before the half-time buzzer the Yoemen had opened up a 14 point lead.

In the first half the Yoemen hit 36 percent of their shots from the field and Michael White had stole four Hornet passes.

It was a slow scoring quarter for the Hornets with only 5 points in eight minutes. The Yoemen pumped in 22.

Ronnie Bennett cleared the backboards and swept down 18 rebounds followed by Jafus White bringing down 8. Yoe hit 10 of 20 shots in the third stanza and established the fast moving pace that the Hornets could keep up with. Then Yoe issued out a full court press that rendered the Hornets helpless.

The Hornets began looking for the back door and failed to escape before the Yoemen pumped in another 20 points in the fourth quarter.

The biggest Yoemen lead came with 1:33 remaining with Yoe opening up a 38 point advantage.

The Yoemen went to the free throw line 14 times and gained 4 points. Caldwell sank 8 points out of 16

In the freshman game the Yoe cagers popped Caldwell, 48-29. Edward Johnson led THE SCORING ATTACK WITH 8 followed by Ronald Cobb with 7.

In the junior varsity game Caldwell was able to take back one win, 47-44. The nip and tuck game went down to the final buzzer before either team could establish any kind of lead.

Errol Spells led the scoring for the Yoe JV with 18 while Larry Wyatt scored 16 for the Hornets.

Murray-go-Round

By Tom Murray

SAME STORY:

Same old story: When Darrell Royal wins BIG at the University of Texas, he's not chose "SWC Football Coach - of - the year," because he ostensibly had, "All that material." Then, when he obviously does not have the best, and most talent, and does the best coaching job, again he's not selected. Winning a piece of the 175 title with only four seniors, no halfbacks, one defensive tackle and no defensive halfbacks any other school wanted, was an incredible performance. Especially since losing All-America Quarterback Marty Akins almost certainly cost him an outright SWC Championship.

So, who is "Coach - of - the Year"? Why Frank Broyles, the Arkansas Coach who returned 13 - Senior starters and whose team Royal's Longhorns powdered. Score was 24-3 in favor Texas, and UT owned a first down at the Arkansas eighty-yard line, with only eight - minutes to go. Texas was eight yards away from making it, 31-3.

NO MARTY, NO MOVE:

But, a funny thing happened.

Not so funny, at that. Marty Akins was lost with a shoulder injury, his Reserve fumbled to Arkansas, and a Let down lot of Longhorns sagged for 15 points in those final eight minutes. What was actually a Texas Rout was made to look close.

So When Arkansas makes a late charge, then dismantles Nationally second-ranked A&M, Broyles is suddenly given credit for having done something with nothing.

Truth is, he started out with exactly THREE TIMES the proven football Darrell Royal did. Darrell, and his University of Texas staff, did the best coaching job in the Southwest Conference. Hands down.

And, if my Arkansas Sports Writing friend accuses me of prejudice in that statement, I am going to remind him that shortly after Texas' defeat of the Razorbacks, he fumed:

"Frank (Broyles) aint got it! He can't win the Big Ones! He can't beat Darrell."

Cheerleaders, 'Pride Of 75'

Yelling at the football games is only a small part of being a Yoe high cheerleader. It's a task that sometimes goes unnoticed and unrecognized and just becomes part of the game that is expected.

The overall preformance and enthusiasm of the student body can be contributed to the hard work that each one of the six spiritleaders have. They are Joyce Burnett, Chryle Pair, Linda Brashear, Diana Chubb, Brenda Henley, and Tracy Barr.

The cheerleaders spent part of their summer attending the NCA cheerleader camp at Sam Houston State University in Huntsville learning new cheers and the rules of cheerleading.

In cheerleading competition at the camp the girls brought back 3 superior and 2 excellent ribbons for evaluation of their cheers.

Also during their summer break the girls got together to make their uniforms and practicing cheers. They sold Dr. Pepper's to get money for their uniforms and to help with the expense of going to camp.

Every week throughout the season the cheerleaders got together and planned the Pep Rallies and made the break throughs for the game night. Included in their 20 hours a week they made the team cakes, cookies, and other treats.

Besides the regular Friday night game the cheerleaders were on the sidelines yelling at the freshmen and junior varsity games.

To co-head cheerleaders are Joyce Burnett and Chryle Pair. Chryle is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Pair and is a senior. This is her second year being a cheerleader and is a member of the Jr. Historians and the Yoe High Band.

Chryle said, "My two years as cheerleader have been a great experience and there is not a greater team or community anywhere."

Joyce Burnett is also a senior and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Burnett of 697 E. 5th, Cameron. Joyce is a member of the band, Slide Rule Club, and is the senior class secretary. She said, "Cameron and Yoe High are both number 1."

Representing the junior class is Diana Chubb, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Chubb. The 17 year old junior has been a cheerleader for three years and is a member of the National Honor Society.

She also is the student council secretary, member of the band, and participates in girls athletics. Diana was a member of the varsity volleyball team and is now playing varsity basketball.

"Even though the seniors will not be returning to play, as long as there are Yoemen, there's a way to state. I'm proud to be a Yoeman," she commented.

Also representing the junior class is Brenda Henley. She was a cheerleader for two years and is presently in the process of moving.

Linda Brashear, a 16-year old sophomore, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Brashear. She is a member of the band, junior historians, and a representative to the student council.

She also was a member of the girls volleyball team and now serves as a manager to the basketball team. Linda said, "I am really pleased with the football team and the coaches."

Tracy Barr is the freshman cheerleader nad has been leading yells for 3 years. She is 14 years old and is the daughter of Carol Barr of 016 W. 12 and Neil Barr, Cameron.

Tracy is a member of the band, student council, and she participated in athletics in junior high.

She said, "I'll always be a Yoeman and won't ever forget this year and I hope there will be many more years that the football team will go to state."

The group is sponsored by girls athletic coach Linda Puckett.

SPORT SPOTLIGHT

By FORREST GUESS

SNOOK...

At the Snook Tournament it was easy to see what talent can do. This weekend the Yoemen will be facing another tough assignment when they enter the Belton Tournament.

Also entering in the tournament will be the number one ranked team in 3A, Gonzales. In the opening game the Yoemen will face Mart, an undefeated 2A powerhouse. The Yoemen will face Temple in the winners bracket after the Mart game.

At present the Yoe cagers have played 4 games and have had 4 workouts. Oh yeah, they have a 4-0 record.

FRESHMEN...

The Yoe freshmen team played in the Belton Tournament last weekend and brought home the consolation trophy.

Coach Paul Hoelscher's cagers lost their opener with Holland, 39-42. In their second game the Yoe frosh whipped Rogers 47-28, and in the final they defeated Belton, 63-39.

LA GRANGE...

La Grange slipped past the Hampshire-Fannett Longhorns last Friday at Tully Field, 20-14. The Longhorns just made too many costly mistakes to win.

La Grange will meet Childress in the state finals, Friday in Abilene. I'm picking the La Grange Leopards to win their first state championship.

POOLE SAID...

"We are going about as expected, we're not trying to go to fast but at the same time we must be prepared for every situation."

"Our experience is paying off because most of these people have played together for 6 years now."

"The tournament at Snook went real well and our people simply picked up from where they left off last year. They are rusty, but they have a burning desire to make it to the state playoffs."

"Our opponent in the first district game, Caldwell is improved from last year. We always expect a tough game with Caldwell because they always seem to be ready for Cameron."

"Caldwell would rather beat us than anyone and we must be ready. This weekend when we travel to the Belton Tournament we will be facing some of the toughest teams in the state."

"We could even face the top ranked 3A team in the state, Gonzales."

It finally happened! The OJ Thomas seventh grade Yoettes defeated Rogers 28-14. For the eighth grade it was a long night losing to the powerful Eaglettes 60-20.

Denise Kelley popped the net for 17 points to lead the scoring attack in the first victory this season. Yvonne Botts put the pressure on the Eaglettes' forwards and had three steals.

The Yoettes had a solid 14-5 half time lead and it was a joyous celebration for the girls that have been ready for a victory.

Lethia White and Sherry Matthews had outstanding nights guarding the Eaglettes forwards. Rounding out the scoring for the OJT girls were Betty Sue Chubb, Virginia Vaculin, Elizabeth Zotz, and Renee Hillman.

The Yoettes went to the free throw line 14 times and sank two while the Eaglettes hit 2 of 11.

It was a welcomed 28-14 victory.

The eighth grade Yoettes found out how much difference a year's experience really makes. Vicki Brashear was the leading scorer for OJT with 10. "Vicky Brown, Anna Schmidt, and Larua Angel did a real good job guarding," according to Coach Swope.

Rounding out the scoring for the Yoettes were Romona Kelley, Judith Moore, and Brenda Orsag.

Colonial Nursing Home

By Mabel Lawhon

A Thanksgiving devotional was enjoyed by the residents of the Home November 18, given by ladies of the Presbyterian Missionary Society.

The invocation was given by Rev. Ernest Helsley. Mrs. Pauline McDermott gave the scripture lesson and a prayer of Thanksgiving. She read Psalm 107.

Mrs. Katherine Helsley accompanied the group of singers in Thanksgiving songs, with Rev. Helsley closing with a prayer.

Members of the Old Providence Baptist Church Missionary Society of Branchville presented a program of Thanksgiving. A presentation of gifts was made to each patient of the home.

Those visiting were Rev. Excise Tax Reduced On Phone Bills

Reduced federal taxes will save Southwestern Bell customers in Texas an estimated $12.5 million on telephone bills in 1976, according to Dennis Richter, manager.

Beginning January 1, the federal excise tax on telephone service falls from 7 percent to 6 percent. The reduction marks the fourth straight year the tax has been lowered.

Under a schedule established by federal law, the tax will continue to drop 1 percent each year until it expires January 1, 1982.

Richter said the biggest savings will be for persons who make an above average amount of long distance calls. He added that the tax reduction will not affect Southwestern Bell earnings since the company is simply a tax collection agent for the government.

Alcoa Cites Increase In Recycling Cans

Cans, cans everywhere seems to be the story for Aluminum Company of America's can reclamation program this year. And the world's largest aluminum producer couldn't be happier.

A record 117 percent increase in reclamation of used aluminum cans was achieved by Alcoa for the first nine months of 1975 compared with the same 1974 period, according to Fred Bergeron, the company's Texas area manager.

Alcoa collected for recycling 47.1 million pounds, or one billion individual cans, compared with 21.7 million pounds or 499 million cans. It collected a total of 34 million pounds for the entire year in 1974, Bergeron said.

The highest collection was in July, when more than 7 million pounds of aluminum cans were reclaimed.

James succeeds Reginald Brack, senior vice president, Braniff International, Dallas, who has received the "Award of Merit," Treasury's highest for volunteer service.

L. A. Sharpe, Mrs. R. L. Humber, Mrs. L. A. Dickens, Mrs. Mary Webber, Mrs. Lillie Clay, and Mrs. Pearl Wells.

Small Cars Safer, UT Study Shows

Because they are in accidents less often, small cars are safer than big cars, a recent University of Texas study concludes.

The study also shows that big cars have a higher frequency of accidents in which fatal or serious injuries result.

Dr. P. L. Yu of UT's Graduate School of Business sampled 1,204 accidents that occurred in Texas in 1973. He found that large cars (4,000-5,000 pounds)—making up 31 percent of the registered cars—had 57 percent of the accidents.

Small cars (weighing not more than 3,000 pounds)—making up 21 percent of the registration—had only 13 percent of the accidents.

Post Platforms Add Patio Color

Posts of 4x4-inch western wood are commonly used to support patio covers, trellises along the front of a house and arbors or other yard structures. But the posts also can double as supports for pots of flowers or other plants. One idea is to nail 24-inch 1x2 slats on edge to opposite sides of the post, then nail on platforms of spaced 1x2s on each side. By alternating these platforms on the post up to about eye level, a variety of plants in different sizes can be displayed. (See Sketch Below)

Wood Wall Cover Looks, Feels Warm

An easy fix-up project that won't involve much cost or time is to panel one or two walls with western lumber. An added dividend comes from wood's high insulation value; its warmth is physical, as well as visual. Boards of nominal one-inch thickness are much more effective as a wall insulator than decorator panels that usually are only 1/4 to 3/8 inch thick.
